

Present Perfect / Past simple: interrogative

It is early evening in Henry's home in the country.

- Henry: Hello Sheila. I didn't expect to see you here.
Sheila: Oh, I've been here for quite a while.
Henry: When did you arrive?
Sheila: Just after lunch.
Henry: Did Patrick pick you up from the station?
Sheila: No, it was a nice day so I walked.
Henry: Have you eaten anything since you got here?
Sheila: No, but I had afternoon tea with the girls earlier.
Henry: What did you think of Penny?
Sheila: She's grown up a lot since I last saw her.
Henry: And how did you find Rebecca?
Sheila: She didn't join us. I haven't seen her yet.

Now see if you can write a dialogue combining the past simple and present perfect.

PRESENT PERFECT vs. SIMPLE PAST

